

"...I call upon My two sons and My servants to find My House in the city of the seat of power in Europe for there the prayer can thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn..." Friday 11 June 2010, Feast of the Sacred Heart

Millions are Slaughtered

The Messages

You will have noticed in these last Newsletters that Jesus is giving many, many Messages. These all are full of Instruction and guidance for us in these dark days. It is almost as though Jesus is making His final call to all of us who will listen before it is too late. Things certainly seem to be coming to a head. The one thing that we do know is that if we read these Messages and set them aside then they are as dead as the paper they are printed on. Jesus may as well not have bothered to give them. Each sentence, each Word is precious and if acted upon by us, becomes alive and lives and dances through us and out into the world. Remember, Jesus is the Living Word but if we do not live His Word, then we kill Jesus in us and prevent others from seeing Him.

New House of Prayer

The appeal for the new House of Prayer is still ongoing as you will see within the Newsletter.

We want to take this opportunity to thank all those of you who have helped Jesus in this already, we thank you for your prayers and sacrifices which clear the pathways in this spiritual undertaking and we thank you for your help in financing it. Jesus sees all offerings and sees all our hearts. When we want what He wants and try to help Him achieve it, I believe it makes Him smile and I do not think He has very much to smile about in these days.

Very Important

We here in the House of Prayer believe that this House in Belgium is very important in the Plans of Jesus because of His reasons for wanting the House. He said that the prayers from it could thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn.

Within this Newsletter

We do not exactly know what Jesus means by this but within this Newsletter we have explored several possibilities, including abortion, embryo experimentation and the topic of hybrid embryos. Some of the material we read would make your blood run cold and to my mind it is a continuation of the human experimentation that was begun in Nazi Germany during the second world war. I suppose, above all, the Message that this Newsletter is trying to convey is this: ...My little son, so little do you know of what is really happening upon this earth; your little heart would break with sorrow if you could really see what is happening.

Mankind has become barbaric: thousands of innocents die every day; millions are slaughtered every year in all forms of unspeakable, hideous actions.

You do not know what I must watch and yet the time is not yet. Soon, My Father shall utter the Words and the Armies of Heaven shall descend upon this earth and the cries of the wicked shall resound through the heavens... Tuesday 21 August 2007

EDITORIAL NOTICES

AN INVITATION TO LOVE JESUS NEWSLETTER
MESSAGES OF LOVE SEPTEMBER 2010 ISSUE 175

Wednesday 16 June 2010 Jesus:

Look only to My Truth and do not let anyone deceive you. I am Coming, My children, I am Coming to release the chains that this world has ensnared you in. Trust only in Me and do not allow yourselves to be led away from My Truth.

I am Coming!

Trust only in My Laws, My Ways and be patient for I have not forgotten you. I must wait for those that have not yet come to Me but I will not leave anyone behind. Trust in Me! I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Sunday 29 August 2010 Jesus:

Look at the Truth, children, and fight against self. Self is your enemy; self only desires the fulfilment of this world. It is self that the lies of lucifer are aimed at.

Trust Me! If you allow the light of the soul to come through then you will only desire the Ways of Truth. But, first, you must overcome self: if it is not died to, then you will never know the true freedom of My Ways.

Come, children, do not be afraid to walk this path with Me for I shall be with you every step of the way. My Light shall shine upon you and you shall be Blessed in the Ways of your Father and My Light shall shine forth from you to My other children: you shall bring many to My Side.

I Love you and I ask that you trust in Me, your God. I Love you, My people, I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday 30 August 2010 Jesus:

My children, I ask that you pay attention to My Words for they are given as a help to guide you to the True Path.

Look, I have given you My Scriptures in order that you be guides but they change My Word in order that you be deceived and so are led away from Me.

Trust in Me and My Words. Look for the old Bibles and read the Truth, then you will know.

Do not allow them to take you from Me. I am Coming soon and I will remove all the falsities and only Truth will be left. I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday 30 August 2010 Jesus:

Children of the Light, come! I call you to stand up for the Truth. Do not be afraid of what this world will think of you for it is but dust and onto dust it will return.

Come this day and listen to My calls for, the great rebellion is upon you. My Ways are being watered down even by those who call themselves My servants. They have become blind because of their fear of what this world will think of them.

Do not fear for the body but, rather fear for the soul for it is it that is the true you and shall live for all Eternity in My Kingdom or not; the choice is yours.

Come, children, I need your help in this Work of Salvation.

Will you answer My calls? Come, I Love you, come, answer Me. I Love you

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday 30 August 2010

Jesus:
Look, I give you Love, My children. I give you Strength and I give you the Light to make your path straight.

Do not listen to those who spread the lies of My Ways. My Word does not change. These who say that the way is right to use inclusive language are but blind. These use these words in order not to offend My children so instead they offend their God.

Who do they think their father is as they spread their lies for they do not live in the truth?

They are blind and foolish servants and their father is the father of lies.

Look I have said: I am the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. Yet they say My Words must change so that sin may be accepted as truth.

Sin is darkness and can only lead to the fires of hell.

Wake up and do not be lead astray by these false teachers.

Come, listen to My Words and follow My True Path that has been laid down for generations before you.

Do not listen, even if you are rejected for I was the first to be rejected. I call upon you, My priests, to turn away from the heresy you are allowing yourselves to become entangled in.

Break free and come, follow Me; reject sin and be a true follower of Mine. Do not allow fear to guide you for My flock depends upon you.

I Love you and I call upon you to help My lonely and lost children. Do not guide them into untruth for My Way is Truth.

Come, follow Me! I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Tuesday 31 August 2010

Jesus:
Love is your goal! Do not let yourselves be distracted from this for the evil one will try to take you from Me in many ways; always, be sure that he is waiting every opportunity to take you from My Way. he is the deceiver and will try to deceive you. This you can see, as many follow Me but do not really follow Me for they are deceived into thinking they are in the Truth while all the while they are living a lie.

To follow Me you must be aware that the only way to come to Me is through dying to self. The more you die to self, the clearer your vision will become and so the Path of Love will open out before you.

Trust in Me, children, trust in Me, your God. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Tuesday 31 August 2010

Jesus:
Come, follow Me! Follow in My Footsteps and do not be afraid for I am Coming. Look, children, follow the Path that I place before you and you will see the Joys of My Father's Kingdom. My Love for you is great and I give Myself to you in these Words.

Come, My beloved children, come and be a part of My Kingdom; be with Us so that Our Joy may be complete in you.

I Love you, child, come, follow Me. I Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Tuesday 31 August 2010

Jesus:
My Love is given freely, children. I ask that you give it freely. Do not allow yourselves to become proud and see yourself as superior for then it will not be Me that you give to those around you but it will be self – tainted by the lies of lucifer and it will become a breeding ground for anger, greed, jealousy and so forth.

Everything you do for Me must be with humility. It is in giving that you receive. The more you give, the more you will receive.

This is the Way of Love: when you come to Me in prayer I will fill you with My Love and then you will be strengthened so that My Work may be fulfilled in you.

Do not think that you will feel anything for My Way is not about feelings but faith in Me: believing in Me and what I say. The more you believe, the more your faith will increase, the more I will be able to do through you. Believe, children, and you will see miracles, you will see the lame walk, the deaf hear, the blind see and the dead come back to life.

Trust for all things are possible in Me.

Trust in My Love for I am Love. I Love you, My children. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Tuesday 31 August 2010

Jesus:
My little ones, come, follow and look to the Truth. Do not look to the things that are not but are just imaginings. I am a simple God; My Ways are Love, Joy and Peace and all things come from this. So many follow Me and do not see My True Path for they expect My Way is a way of experiences.

I tell you, My Way is simple and not sensationalism. Sensationalism will only lead you into self and not away as I have taught.

Self is your enemy and it must be overcome.

Love is your safe refuge: love is dying to the things of self for love will always look to the good of others and so self will be overcome in this way.

Come, listen to My Words. Come, I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Wednesday 1 September 2010

Jesus:
Look at the ways that you are tempted, children, look at the ways you are drawn into sin.

If you do not look at these things, then you will not be able to fight them.

When you find your greatest temptation then this is the one you must fight. To fight, you must avoid all situations where you will be tempted.

In order to fight and overcome, you must want to do this for Me and the good of your soul.

Do not water down the Truth. If you do this, then you will not overcome. You must be willing to look at the blunt Truth and then work on that sin. Do not try to overcome everything at once but, rather work on one at a time trusting in Me and My Help for, if you do this, in truth, then I will be with you every step of the way.

Do not allow yourself to be drawn for the evil one will try to trip you up if he sees a weakness in your resolve to fight.

Trust Me, if you overcome one sin then you will quickly overcome the rest. Do this for Me. I Love you, My children, I Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Wednesday 1 September 2010

Jesus:
Children of the Light, I call you to come, follow Me in Truth. Look at the things within your lives that are not of Me and remove them. If you do this, you will find Peace. The more that you fight, the less of a hold this world will have upon you.

Come, trust Me and believe for the more that you die to self, the more I can fill you with the things of the Spirit.

Believe, children, believe in My Way, unless you die to self I cannot truly use you for self will always get in the way of My Work. This is why I have always told you that self must go, then you can live in this world but not be of it.

Sin is the greatest block to My Work in you so use the Gift of Confession often, so that you may be free to do My Work. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Thursday 2 September 2010

Love is My Gift to you. Do not be afraid to give it to others for, the more you give, the more you will receive.

My Love can be given to all; even those whom you think do not deserve it.
My Love is for all; as I poured My Blood out on Calvary, so is My Love poured now.
I Love you, My people, and I call you to come, follow Me, be My Hands, My Feet and My Lips and go out into this world and show that I am Alive by your action. I Love you.

Friday 3 September 2010

Jesus:
Look to the Truth always, children.

If you do not look in Truth then you cannot follow Me. If you do not live in Truth, then you will become blind and the Truth shall flee from you like water through your hands.

I Love you and I call you to this path. I Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Friday 3 September 2010

Jesus:
Look, look, children, do not be afraid to follow Me into the Light. I am the Truth and I tell you that the Light is My Love, sent to give freedom to this world. Show My people that My Love is Alive in you. Show My people that they have not been forgotten.

Trust in Me, children, trust in My Love for you and, We, together, will save many from eternal death in the fires of hell.

I need your hands, feet and lips in order to do this Work. Do not force anyone to believe in Me, they must make the decision to believe in their own free will.
Love is gentle and will never force; remember to be like doves when you do My Work.

Love is all things and this is what you must do.
I Love you, children, I Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Friday 3 September 2010

Jesus:
Look to Love, My children. Go out into this world and begin the Revolution of Love. Let My Love shine in the four corners of this earth. With Me and My Power all things are possible. Believe in Me and with your faith miracles will happen; the blind will see, the deaf will hear, the lame will walk and the dead will rise. All you need is to have faith and believe all things are possible with Me.

I Love you, children, and I call you to battle so that the darkness will be defeated. My Love will reign once again and new life will be breathed into this world.
I Love you. Come, listen to My calls. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday 6 September 2010

Jesus:
My children, seek the Truth and do not allow anything to take you from this path. I am the Truth and, without Me, you will have no Light to guide your footsteps. Come, My little children, and follow Me for I am your God. My Love is given freely to you to do My Work.

I Love you, go, now, and show this world that I live in you. Go out to the nations and let them see that I am Alive. I Love you and depend on you to do My Work. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday 6 September 2010

Jesus:
Look to the Truth and see Me and I will guide you into the dark places in your life so that you can see clearly and be able to change them. What is hidden in the dark must be brought into the light in order for it to be recognised and removed. Sin is the block between you and Me. The more you remove the sin from your life, the more My Light can shine through you. Come, trust in Me, and allow Me to help you see the Truth.

I Love you, My children. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Tuesday 7 September 2010

Jesus:
Look only to the Truth, My children, and see Me, your God. I am Coming soon and you must prepare. Look into your lives and see the dark places; see the sin that holds you back from Me and remove it. Then, and only then, will you begin to recognise the True Path that leads to My Heart. I am the Lord, your God, and only Truth can live in Me.

First, you must look at the greatest sin and work at removing this and only then can you work on removing the second. Do not try to do too much at once so that your resolve does not break. I will guide you on this path if you allow Me. Trust in Me, children, trust in Me, your God, for I am with you, always ready to Teach you when you give Me permission. I Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Wednesday 8 September 2010

Jesus:
Come, love Me, children, as I Loved you. I yearn for your love, My creation, yet, you have forgotten Me in favour of the glittery things of this world, which are but dust.

Come, see the Truth, it is the evil one who blinds you into thinking that these things are important. Wake up, children, and see the Truth. Come away from the lies of lucifer and see your God.

I Love you and I only want good things for you. You are My children; I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Thursday 9 September 2010

Jesus:
Look at Me, children, look at Me, your God, I am Coming.

Have you prepared? Have you listened to the Warnings I have given throughout this world?

I have given so many Messages through so many of My children yet, so few have believed. You listen to the lies of this world and think that your lives will never end but, look how short your lives are and then you must meet Me.

Can you not see how blind you have become, generation!

You have listened to the lies of lucifer and are being led to eternal damnation in the fires of hell. You cannot blame anyone but yourselves.

Look, I have given you the Scriptures, the Sacraments, the Prophets, Visionaries and Seers, the signs: yet, you ignore them all.

Wake up and see the Truth! You are in the End Times and My Return is imminent. Prepare, nations! Prepare, for your God stands on the doorstep and I will destroy all that is evil at My Coming. Your knowledge, your weapons, your science, mean nothing to Me for they have been the destroyers of the innocents. Turn away from your evil ways and come, follow Me, for I am the Lord, your God, who has poured out His Blood so that Forgiveness could be born.

It is up to you to accept it or not.

Though your sins be scarlet, they shall be washed clean in the Blood of the Lamb.

Come, now, and repent: kneel down before your God and ask for Forgiveness. Turn away from your evil ways and become My disciples: go out to the nations and proclaim the Good News of the Kingdom for it is at hand. I Love you.

Patrick:
Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Friday 10 September 2010

Jesus:
My children, look and see the Truth, now, while there is still time. So few follow Me in Truth. So few look at themselves, rather, they look at others and see their sin and never look at their own.

I have told you, self is your enemy and must be died to. If you do not fight self it will take control and I will not be allowed in. So many enter My Churches and do not see Me but, rather, sit in judgement of their brothers and sisters.

Look, now, and see the Truth; turn away from your evil ways and come, follow Me. I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Sunday

12 September 2010

Jesus:

My children, I call you to turn away from sin and come, follow Me. Do not look at what others are doing but, rather, look inside and find what holds you back from Me and fight to remove it. Do not give up but continue to fight: each battle that you overcome then the stronger you become.

Trust in Me; this is how you will find the freedom that you seek.

Trust in Me, children, I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday

13 September 2010

Jesus:

Love is not a game! When you step upon this path it must be in Truth. To know Truth is to know Me, your God. Do not enter the Path of Love if you do not want Truth within your heart for you are only fooling yourself.

Be in Truth, children; love your enemy; do good to those who persecute you: this is the Way of Love.

Love is all that you need to fight this battle. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Tuesday

14 September 2010

Jesus:

Come, My little children, accept the Love that I offer. Do not reject Me for I have given much so that you could have Eternal Life with Me. Come, listen to My Voice and do not be afraid for My Love for you is great. I Love you and I come in these Words to help guide you on the Path of Truth that will lead to My Father's Kingdom. I am Coming soon and you must prepare for you will be swept away in the lies of lucifer if you have not got Me within your heart. Trust in Me and believe in My Love for you and your vision will begin to clear and you shall finally understand the Truth of My Words. I Love you, My little children, I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Wednesday

15 September 2010

Jesus:

Come, beloved of My Heart, and walk with Me. I have called so many times and so few listen to My calls. I Love you, My children, and

I call once again to you who are beloved of My Heart. Will you not listen to Me, My Heart is in great Pain for the loss of so many of My children. As time grows nearer more and more are listening to the calls of lucifer. his voice is becoming ever louder because so many are accepting his ways. he has been given great strength from the amount of sin in the last days. Soon I must Come and put an end to the evil that has been released upon this earth. I Love you, My children, and I call out to you to come, follow Me. Turn away from the evil ways of this world and come, follow Me. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

IMPORTANT

Friday 17 September 2010

Jesus:

Look to the Truth and do not overburden yourselves. Look to the lie that holds you and overcome it; it could be fear, greed, lies, lust.

Find it, overcome it, so that you can see clearly.

Do all in Truth for, remember, the evil one is a liar and a cheat and will try to hold you through a lie. You may think that he holds you through greed but, the truth could be lust.

The spirit will always try to hide its true identity for when you know his name then you can overcome him. Then you will be truly dying to self.

Self is your enemy for self desires the pleasures of this world and so is easily controlled by lucifer.

These Words are important, My children, read them and do not forget them for I have given much so that they could be given to you. Act on them and you shall be free to follow Me in Truth.

I Love you, My children, I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Saturday

18 September 2010

Jesus:

For those of you who refuse to listen to the Ways of your God, your reward is eternal death where only cries of hatred are heard day and night for all eternity. Your words for refusing to know Me will be anger when you find out what was yours and you refused it.

I cannot force anyone to follow Me because I respect your human right to be free.

Look at what I am saying; you are being deceived by lucifer.

Wake up, children, and see the Truth and come, follow Me. Though your sin be as the darkness of night I will wash them away and freedom shall be yours.

Come, little ones, I Love you with everything that I am and I await your reply, children. I await.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Sunday

19 September 2010

Jesus:

Look, children, and see what I am saying. Look, I point to the True Path so that you can see the Truth. I am Coming and you must prepare; do not wait any longer for there is not time. Trust in Me and allow Me to Teach you the Ways of Truth. Those Ways that have been set down from the beginning.

I do not change, children, My Ways do not change; My Laws do not change, it is you that must change.

Do not listen to the lies of this world, do not listen to the untruth that tries to change My Word.

I Love you and call you to be soldiers of the Light so that We, together, can overcome the darkness of this world. Trust in Me, children. Trust in your God. I, your Jesus, Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Sunday

19 September 2010

Jesus:

I have given you many Words so that you would know the Truth, so that you could follow Me without being deceived.

Come, children, listen now while there is still time.

Come, listen to My Voice and do not delay. I am your God and, yes, I do exist and I have given you freedom to believe or not.

Do not listen to the lies of this world for you cannot find true happiness in this life only in the next.

Come, children, trust in Me, your God, I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Monday

27 September 2010

Jesus:

Look only to the Truth and see what I say.

You are not alone: I have not deserted you.

Come, My children, listen to My Words and I will show you the Truth.

Come, My little ones, and do not be afraid. I Love you.

Patrick:

Thank You, Jesus, I love You.

Wednesday

29 September 2010

Urgent Appeal

Update on the House of Prayer in Brussels

"...Today, I do a new thing. I call upon My two sons and My servants to find My House in the city of the seat of power in Europe for there the prayer can thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn. This I ask for quickly. Do not be afraid to do this for it is your gift to Me on this, My Feast Day..." Friday 11 June 2010, Feast of the Most Sacred Heart

In our June issue of the Newsletter, we told you of how Jesus had asked for a new House of Prayer in Brussels, Belgium. Patrick, along with some servants, went to Brussels to find this House; they found the House that they believe Jesus wanted but had to wait some time to see if their offer had been accepted.

We have just been told that the owners have accepted this offer! Praise Jesus!

The full price of the House is €270,000

We have six weeks from the date we sign for the House to pay the price in full.

We are asking for your help. We are asking for your prayers and for financial aid.

Update

To date we have paid the €27,000 deposit. However we have now been told that we must pay a further amount which will be between 5% and 10% of the full price of the House. This is Belgium's version of stamp duty which is called government tax. This could be a further €27,000, bringing the actual purchase of the House to just under €300,000.

When we, the two Patricks, went to prayer to ask Jesus was this appeal His Will He gave us these Words.

We feel embarrassed

We always seem to be asking you for money for one project or another that Jesus has asked for and to tell you the truth we feel embarrassed by this. But, as Jesus said on Saturday 26 July 2003 when we were appealing for the Printer, "...My servant, why should you feel embarrassed about doing My Will? Is this not what I have asked you to do? Do not worry, for My children who have given to this appeal have given generously for the purpose that I have asked of them. They have heard My Plea in their hearts for the screams of the innocent ones. Many have given a widow's mite and have suffered in doing so but their hearts are with Me and they understand why it must be done. This appeal is also about giving with an open heart as I have asked...

I Love all of you, My children, and I ask you for this so that My Work might be truly done. I use no threats to ask you, I simply go down on My Knees and I beg you. I am not ashamed to beg nor am I embarrassed as My servant is..."

I seek your help

Again, in July 2007, Jesus said, "...Help Me to find resources that I can use to build this House and My other Houses so that I can ward off the evil that threatens. For, there emerges one who will seek to dictate and many will be stripped of their faith and will perish because they will believe him and not Me. They will be told many lies. Help Me bring the Truth through My House to My other Houses. I Love you. Darkness gathers in the shadows.

My children, be afraid, for fear, at this time, will help you rise up and do battle. My House can bring Light to this darkness. I seek your help." Saturday 7 July 2007

His children

Jesus needs all of us to help Him. He needs those of us with free time to work in His Houses, He needs those of us who pray and sacrifice to offer such oblations in this time for the establishment of His Houses and He needs those of us who can to help financially with these Houses. As you can see from the above Message, Jesus is only trying to establish these Houses for us, His children, and our safety.

He does it all for us. For my part I feel that there is a particular sense of importance on this House in Brussels for two reasons: one is where it is located and two, because of what it is for, i.e. to thwart the plans to do with the little ones as yet unborn. Please, we need your help.

In the Hands of Jesus

Finally we leave this appeal in the Hands of Jesus for as He said, "...My son, do not worry of this appeal that you have sent to My children. It is in My Hands. I desire that this Work be done. Too long has it been hidden in the dark; too long has man been blinded to the Truth of abortion. I mean to let My children see what is really happening. I Love you..." Wednesday 19 February 2003

When Patrick and the servants went to view the House, this Heart was hanging on the door.

The Heart says, "The House of Love!"

What do they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn?

Prayer can thwart

On the Feast of the Most Sacred Heart this year, Friday 11 June, Jesus asked for a new House of Prayer. He said, "...I call upon My two sons and My servants to find My House in the city of the seat of power in Europe for there the prayer can thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn. This I ask for quickly. Do not be afraid to do this for it is your gift to Me on this, My Feast Day..."

Particularly striking

What I found particularly striking in this Message was His reason for wanting this new House of Prayer and the way in which His request was worded. He said for there the prayer can thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn.

What does Jesus mean by this? Was He talking about abortion? Was He talking about foetal experimentation? Was He talking about a generation to come who would be used in some way and not for His purposes? I cannot answer with any certainty what Jesus means, He was maybe even talking about all three but what I do know is that while I was asking Jesus to inspire us as to what He wanted within this month's Newsletter, the topics of abortion and foetal experimentation dominated my mind. As a result of this we have researched these topics in an effort to bring you the very Truth about what is going on and why Jesus needs this House so badly. Let's delve into our recent history to take a look at the progress of science to try to see "what they plan to do."

HITLER GERMANY AND NAZI HUMAN EXPERIMENTATION

Second world war

During the Second World War, people were aware of the concentration camps in Nazi Germany but were unaware of just how ghastly these were. Not so very many years ago the world was aghast to learn of the true horrors of these. As the camps were liberated at the end of the war, people began to see the horrific conditions that prisoners were kept in and began to realise the sheer magnitude of the murder that went on. These were extermination camps, not places to keep prisoners of war.

As more and more survivors recounted their experiences, and Nazi documented evidence supported their claims, the realisation dawned of the barbaric practises that were done; namely human experimentation.

Human experimentation

"Joseph Goebbels, Nazi Germany's Minister of Propaganda, stated in 1938 that "we do not subscribe to the view that one should feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, or clothe the naked...our objectives are entirely different: we must have a healthy people in order to prevail in the world."

Had two primary goals

Nazi medical experiments during World War II had two primary goals: 1) to find ways for their troops to survive the harsh winters and challenging conditions on the battlefield and 2) to perfect methods that could be used to propagate what they considered to be the superior race. Most of their experiments were conducted on Jews and Gypsies, both of whom, in the eyes of the Nazis, were expendable. The most infamous human experimentation during the Holocaust was conducted on twins. Josef Mengele was a geneticist and conducted studies on twins arriving at the concentration camps. Most tests involved taking hair and skin samples, as well as samples from genitals and organs, all without anesthesia of course.

Once the experimentation was complete, the twins were usually killed. These twins were either Jews or those whom Heinrich Himler, during the Nuremberg trials, called "asocial individuals and criminals, who only deserve to die, (who were taken) from concentration camps for these experiments."

Other experiments

There were many other experiments done. Below is a short synopsis of these experiments, taken from http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazi\_human\_experimentation, <http://www.helium.com/items/1365894-> nazi-human-experiments and http://www.bigeye.com/sexeducation/nazirape.html.

These experiments were done on Nazi prisoners of war at the concentration camps, obviously without their consent and many times without their knowledge. According to the indictment at the subsequent Nuremberg Trials these experiments included the following:

Experiments on twins

Experiments on twin children in concentration camps were created to show the similarities and differences in the genetics of twins, as well as to see if the human body can be unnaturally manipulated. The central leader of the experiments was Josef Mengele, who from 1943 to 1944 performed experiments on nearly one thousand five hundred sets of imprisoned twins at Auschwitz. Only two hundred individuals survived these studies...

The twins were arranged by age and sex and kept in barracks between experiments, which ranged from injection of different chemicals into the eyes of twins to see whether it would change their colour to literally sewing twins together in attempts to create twins.

Transplantation experiments

From about September 1942 to about December 1943, experiments were conducted at the Ravensbrück concentration camp for the benefit of the German Armed Forces, to study bone, muscle, and nerve regeneration, and bone transplantation from one person to another. Sections of bones, muscles, and nerves were removed from the subjects without use of anesthesia. As a result of these operations, many victims suffered intense agony, mutilation, and permanent disability.

Freezing experiments

In 1941, the Luftwaffe conducted experiments with the intent of discovering means to prevent and treat hypothermia. One study forced subjects to endure a tank of ice water for up to five hours.

Another study placed prisoners naked in the open air for several hours with temperatures as low as minus 6°C (21°F). Besides studying the physical effects of cold exposure, the experimenters also assessed different methods of rewarming survivors.

The freezing/hypothermia experiments were conducted for the Nazi high command to simulate the conditions the armies suffered on the Eastern Front, as the German forces were ill-prepared for the cold weather they encountered.

Many experiments were conducted on captured Russian troops; the Nazis wondered whether their genetics gave them superior resistance to cold. The principal locales were Dachau and Auschwitz. Dr Sigmund Rascher, an SS doctor based at Dachau, reported directly to Heinrich Himmler and publicised the results of his freezing experiments at the 1942 medical conference entitled "Medical Problems Arising from Sea and Winter." Approximately one hundred people are reported to have died as a result of these experiments.

Malaria experiments

From about February 1942 to about April 1945, experiments were conducted at the Dachau concentration camp in order to investigate immunization for treatment of malaria. Healthy inmates were infected by mosquitoes or by injections of extracts of the mucous glands of female mosquitoes. After contracting the disease, the subjects were treated with various drugs to test their relative efficiency. Over one thousand people were used in these experiments, and of those, more than half died as a result.

Mustard gas experiments

At various times between September 1939 and April 1945, many experiments were conducted at Sachsenhausen, Natzweiler, and other camps to investigate the most effective treatment of wounds caused by mustard gas. Test subjects were deliberately exposed to mustard gas and other vesicants like Lewisite (Lewisite is a blistering liquid, derived from arsenic and acetylene, used in war; yellow or brown mineral containing antimony) which inflicted severe chemical burns. The victims' wounds were then tested to find the most effective treatment for the mustard gas burns.

Sulfonamide experiments

From about July 1942 to about September 1943, experiments to investigate the effectiveness of sulfonamide, a synthetic antimicrobial agent, were conducted at Ravensbrück. Wounds inflicted on the subjects were infected with bacteria such as Streptococcus, Clostridium perfringens (the causative agent in gas gangrene) and Clostridium tetani, the causative agent in tetanus. Circulation of blood was interrupted by tying off blood vessels at both ends of the wound to create a condition similar to that of a battlefield wound. Infection was aggravated by forcing wood shavings and ground glass into the wounds. The infection was treated with sulfonamide and other drugs to determine their effectiveness.

Sea water experiments

From about July 1944 to about September 1944, experiments were conducted at the Dachau concentration camp to study various methods of making sea water drinkable. At one point, a group of roughly ninety Roma (gypsies), were deprived of food and given nothing but sea water to drink by Dr. Hans Eppinger, leaving them gravely injured. They were so dehydrated that others observed them licking freshly mopped floors in an attempt to get drinkable water.

Experiments with poison

In or around December 1943 and October 1944, experiments were conducted at Buchenwald to investigate the effect of various poisons. The poisons were secretly administered to experimental subjects in their food. The victims died as a result of the poison or were killed immediately in order to permit autopsies. In September 1944, experimental subjects were shot with poisonous bullets, suffered torture and often died.

Incendiary bomb experiments

From around November 1943 through to circa January 1944, experiments were conducted at Buchenwald to test the effect of various pharmaceutical preparations on phosphorus burns. These burns were inflicted on prisoners using phosphorus material extracted from incendiary bombs.

High altitude experiments

In early 1942, prisoners at Dachau concentration camp were used by Rascher in experiments to aid German pilots who had to eject at high altitudes. A low-pressure chamber containing these prisoners was used to simulate conditions at altitudes of up to twenty thousand metres (sixty six thousand feet). It was rumoured that Rascher performed vivisections on the brains of victims who survived the initial experiment. (vivisection: The act or practice of cutting into or otherwise injuring living animals, especially for the purpose of scientific research.)

Of the two hundred subjects, eighty died outright and the others were executed.

Nazi Rape "Research"

Although countless women were raped in the prison camps, some of the doctors would ask for healthy women for the purposes of raping them, cutting out their reproductive organs and then murdering them. One such doctor was Dr. Hermann Stieve (1886-1952) of the Institute of Anatomy at the University of Berlin.

Dr. Stieve would request women for experiments claiming that he wanted to study their bodies for anatomy (autopsies) and to see if their reproductive systems could handle "stress" or if they were "weak" reproductive systems. When Dr. Stieve was granted his prisoners for his research, he would have the prison guards rape the Jewish and Gypsy women. Whether Dr. Stieve and others from the University of Berlin participated as well is unknown.

Anatomical studies

After the women had been raped, then were killed in the concentration camps and their bodies were given back to Dr. Stieve for the purposes of anatomical studies, mainly of the reproductive systems of the raped women. Dr. Stieve would claim to be tracing the path of sperm in the uterus and fallopian tubes of the raped women on the autopsies. In other cases he claimed to see if the reproductive organs could handle "stress" of being raped upon autopsy. Dr. Hermann Stieve actually published his "research" based on the rapes of the women and he claimed that because he had done autopsies on raped women, that supposedly all women were inferior to men and had "weak" reproductive systems that could "easily be injured."

Honoured

After World War II, Dr. Stieve continued to teach anatomy at the University of Berlin and no charges were ever brought against him. He gave countless lectures to the students at the university about raping the women in the prison camps and "women's" weakness of their reproductive systems. Instead, the Berlin Charite Hospital honoured Dr. Stieve on behalf of his research on women's reproductive systems. They awarded him with a bust/statue of him on the university and an entire lecture hall was named after him at the University of Berlin.

Sterilization experiments

From about March 1941 to about January 1945, sterilization experiments were conducted at Auschwitz, Ravensbrück, and other places by Dr. Carl Clauberg. The purpose of these experiments was to develop a method of sterilization which would be suitable for sterilizing millions of people with a minimum of time and effort. These experiments were conducted by means of X-ray, surgery and various drugs. Thousands of victims were sterilized. Aside from its experimentation, the Nazi government sterilized around four hundred thousand individuals as part of its compulsory sterilization program. Intravenous injections of solutions speculated to contain iodine and silver nitrate were successful, but had unwanted side effects such as vaginal bleeding, severe abdominal pain, and cervical cancer. Therefore, radiation treatment became the favoured choice of sterilization. Specific amounts of exposure to radiation destroyed a person's ability to produce ova or sperm. The radiation was administered through deception. Prisoners were brought into a room and asked to complete forms, which took two to three minutes. In this time, the radiation treatment was administered and, unknown to the prisoners, they were rendered completely sterile. Many suffered severe radiation burns.

Artificial insemination

Of the reports from survivors rescued at the end of the war, Dr. Clauberg was apparently also doing artificial insemination experiments with an unknown sperm substance. He told the women that he had put animal sperm inside them and that they had beasts growing in their bellies. Whether it was truly human sperm or animal sperm is unknown.

What also seems to be unknown is if any of the inseminated women came to term with any of the children. There are reports of Dr. Clauberg removing their uteruses, ovaries and fallopian tubes after the experiment. Surely Dr. Karl Clauberg could not have been the only doctor on this project, but at present, he is the only doctor named in connection to such artificial insemination experiments.

Aftermath

Many of the subjects died as a result of the experiments conducted by the Nazis, while many others were murdered after the tests were completed to study the effect post mortem. Those who survived were often left mutilated, suffering permanent disability, weakened bodies and mental distress. On August 19, 1947, the doctors captured by Allied forces were put on trial in USA vs. Karl Brandt et al., which is commonly known as the Doctors' Trial. At the trial, several of the doctors argued in their defense that there was no international law regarding medical experimentation.

The issue of informed consent had previously been controversial in German medicine in 1900, when Dr. Albert Neisser infected patients (mainly prostitutes) with syphilis without their consent. Despite Neisser's support from most of the academic community, public opinion, led by psychiatrist Albert Moll, was against Neisser. While Neisser went on to be fined by the Royal Disciplinary Court, Moll developed "a legally based, positivistic contract theory of the patient-doctor relationship" that was not adopted into German law. Eventually, the minister for religious, educational, and medical affairs issued a directive stating that medical interventions other than for diagnosis, healing, and immunization were excluded under all circumstances if "the human subject was a minor or not competent for other reasons" or if the subject had not given his or her "unambiguous consent" after a "proper explanation of the possible negative consequences" of the intervention, though this was not legally binding.

In response, Drs. Leo Alexander and Andrew Conway Ivy drafted a ten point memorandum entitled Permissible Medical Experiment that went on to be known as the Nuremberg Code. The code calls for such standards as voluntary consent of patients, avoidance of unnecessary pain and suffering, and that there must be a belief that the experimentation will not end in death or disability. The Code was not cited in any of the findings against the defendants and never made it into either German or American medical law.

Frankenstein-like

You may think the Nazi scientists were barbaric for these Frankenstein-like experiments on live human people, and rightly so, however, the Allies - even though they put the doctors on trial for war crimes - hailed the scientific data as precious.

Allies eagerly sought

After World War II, the Allies eagerly sought and queued up for this Nazi medical and military research, as they saw it as the greatest "spoils" or booty of the war! They wanted it to advance their own military and medical knowledge. The Allies formed the Joint Intelligence Objectives Agency. This was an organization responsible for capturing the scientists and taking them to the U.S. for questioning. They had originally intended merely to debrief them and send them back to Germany. But when they realized the extent of the scientists' knowledge and expertise, the War Department decided it would be a waste to send the scientists home. Following the discovery of Germany's advanced technology, the War Department decided that NASA and the CIA must control this technology, and the Nazi engineers that had worked on this technology.

<http://www.theforbiddenknowledge.com/hardtruth/operationpaperclip.htm>

Stemming from Nazi mad research

In the United States, these captured Nazi German scientists, were recruited for employment in very prominent places in the US Navy, nuclear physics, rocket science, aeronautics, military research, medicine, electronics, intelligence... and their documents were re-written to eliminate their crimes at the concentration camps.

...Allen Dulles delivered the Nazi Intelligence unit to the CIA, which later opened many umbrella projects stemming from Nazi mad research.

It is all based on evil

So while on the one hand the Allies were condemning the Nazi's inhumane atrocities, they were greedy for the knowledge they could glean from the meticulously compiled data. All this information was kept and used in each of the Allied countries of the Joint Intelligence Objectives Agency.

It is the basis for much of the scientific research of today: genetics, biological warfare, reproductive health, etc. It is all based on evil. How can the results of something that was so evil be used for the good of man?

Let us take a look and see some of what this evil has spawned in science today. First let us look at abortion.

ABORTION

I am sure that you will agree that the experiments mentioned above are quite shocking. What one man can do to another in the name of medical advancement seems quite insane to me. You may be thinking to yourself, yes it is terrible but it is all over now. We, in the West, put an end to all that when we won the war. Not so.

What happened to all that information that the Nazis gathered? Knowledge is power. You can be sure the Allies did not destroy such power. In fact, I would argue that it is being used every day among us and we are too blind to see it.

We want here to print in black and white exactly what happens in an abortion. Sometimes the similarities between certain methods of abortion and the human experiments of the Nazis are striking.

For example, babies who are aborted, even up to full term, are not given an anaesthetic. We are told that the foetus feels no pain. Why then does it recoil and flinch to get away from the instruments of abortion as seen in the 'Silent Scream?' Of course there is no permission sought from the baby if it wants to die in this way: the methods used for killing the unborn child are quite horrific and as with the Jews and other Nazi prisoners of war, the perpetrators of the act have to dehumanise their victims in order to carry out the 'procedure.' Maybe this is why the intentional killing of another human being in the womb is called, termination, abortion, interruption of pregnancy or the baby is referred to as a clump of cells etc, anything other than recognising that it is a little human being, growing inside its mother's womb.

Methods of abortion Suction Aspiration

This is the most common method of abortion during the first twelve weeks of pregnancy. General or local anaesthesia is given to the mother and her cervix is quickly dilated. A suction curette (hollow tube with a knife-edged tip) is inserted into the womb. This instrument is then connected to a vacuum machine by a transparent tube. The vacuum suction, twenty nine times more powerful than a household vacuum cleaner, tears the foetus and placenta into small pieces which are sucked through the tube into a bottle and discarded.

Dilation and Curettage (D&C)

This method is similar to the suction method with the added insertion of a hook shaped knife (curette) which cuts the baby into pieces. The pieces are scraped out through the cervix and discarded (this abortion method should not be confused with a therapeutic D&C done for reasons other than pregnancy.)

Dilation and Evacuation (D&E)

This method is used up to eighteen weeks' gestation. Instead of the loop-shaped knife used in D&C abortions, a pair of forceps is inserted into the womb to grasp part of the foetus. The teeth of the forceps twist and tear the bones of the unborn child. This process is repeated until the foetus is totally dismembered and removed. Usually the spine must be snapped and the skull crushed in order to remove them.

Salt Poisoning (Saline Injection)

Used after sixteen weeks (four months) when enough fluid has accumulated. A long needle injects a strong salt solution through the mother's abdomen into the baby's sac. The baby swallows this fluid and is poisoned by it. It also acts as a corrosive, burning off the outer layer of skin. It normally takes somewhat over an hour for the baby to die from this. Within twenty four hours, labour will usually set in and the mother will give birth to a dead or dying baby. (There have been many cases of these babies being born alive. They are usually left unattended to die. However, a few have survived and later been adopted.)

Prostaglandin Chemical Abortion

This form of abortion uses chemicals developed by the Upjohn Pharmaceutical Co. which cause the uterus to contract intensely, pushing out the developing baby. The contractions are more violent than normal, natural contractions, so the unborn baby is frequently killed by them - some have even been decapitated. Many, however, have also been born alive.

Hysterotomy or Caesarean Section

Used mainly in the last three months of pregnancy, the womb is entered by surgery through the wall of the abdomen. The technique is similar to a Caesarean delivery, except that the umbilical cord is usually cut while the baby is still in the womb, thus cutting off his oxygen supply and causing him to suffocate. Sometimes the baby is removed alive and simply left in a corner of neglect or exposure.

Partial-Birth Abortion

Five steps to a partial birth abortion:

Guided by ultrasound, the abortionist grabs the baby's legs with forceps.

The baby's leg is pulled out into the birth canal.

The abortionist delivers the baby's entire body, except for the head.

The abortionist jams scissors into the baby's skull. The scissors are then opened to enlarge the skull.

The scissors are removed and a suction catheter is inserted.

The child's brains are sucked out, causing the skull to collapse.

The dead baby is then removed.

Their pain is great

In the Messages of Love Jesus has said that "...As you hear My Words, many abortions have been performed, many little souls that I have created have been struck mercilessly. Their little bones have been wrenched apart and torn. Their pain is great and so is Mine. My little children, you who gather here, you whom I have called, I cry unto you, I appeal to you. See Me as I stand covered in their blood. See My Face as it is distorted and twisted in much Pain and Agony..." Saturday 30 July 1994

Abortion is a blood sacrifice to satan

Abortion has been around for centuries. Even in medieval times methods were used to abort babies but never so much as in these days that we live in. What's different today is that it is legalised and not seen as murder. In some of the very first Messages that Jesus gave to the two Patricks back in the early 1990s, He spoke about abortion and how it is a blood sacrifice to satan, "...Abortion has given the evil one the strength he needs to control the events of this earth. My children, how blind you have become; how you have allowed the evil one to lead you..." Tuesday 19 March 2002 and "...People of the earth, I address you, I call you to repent of your ways for they work against you. You have forgotten that you have a God who Loves you, so blind are you. Many dark days are to come upon you for many darknesses are within your hearts and you cannot see them. See what is being done by him who is the father of lies - see his hand in all the many abortions from around the world. These are allowed to go unchecked. Many millions of people have died in agonies, such as would cause an outcry in this world, if abortion was seen as it truly is - MURDER..." Sunday 7 August 1994

Different ways

There are many ways that are used to prevent a baby being born and these include: female sterilisation, vasectomy, male condom, the pill - including the mini-pill, withdrawal method, the cap or diaphragm, the coil (intra-uterine device), contraceptive injection, female condom, skin patch, mirena (intra-uterine system). These methods may seem harmless but they are intended to prevent a baby from being conceived or born. For example, taking the oral contraceptive pill coats the womb and therefore prevents the conceived baby, which remains in the fallopian tube for five to seven days after being conceived, from attaching itself to the wall of the womb so it ends up being flushed out of the womb. This is abortion.

...Look, children, see what I am saying. You have allowed the murder of your own children. You do not stop to think what is happening. You hear the words termination, abortion, foetus but you do not think about these words, that they are responsible for murder. Termination means 'to end,' abortion means murder, to end a life is murder. The word 'foetus' is used so you will not think of a baby, a child: you are being fooled, children, and you do not stop to realise what is happening..." Monday 19 May 2003

Abortion Statistics

The following are some statistics on abortion but remember these do not count the amount of babies aborted by the morning after pill, oral contraception etc. and other methods that are not documented. They are also the most recent ones I could find, however some of them date back to the nineties.

Worldwide

Number of abortions per year: Approximately forty two million

Number of abortions per day: Approximately one hundred and fifteen thousand

Where abortions occur: 83% of all abortions are obtained in developing countries and 17% occur in developed countries.

United States

Number of abortions per year: 1.37 million (1996)
Number of abortions per day: Approximately 3,700

Who's having abortions (age)?

Women with family incomes less than $15,000 obtain 28.7% of all abortions; Women with family incomes between $15,000 and $29,999 obtain 19.5%; Women with family incomes between $30,000 and $59,999 obtain 38.0%; Women with family incomes over $60,000 obtain 13.8%.

Why women have abortions

1% of all abortions occur because of rape or incest; 6% of abortions occur because of potential health problems regarding either the mother or child, and 93% of all abortions occur for social reasons (i.e. the child is unwanted or inconvenient).

At what gestational ages are abortions performed?

52% of all abortions occur before the ninth week of pregnancy, 25% happen between the ninth and tenth week, 12% happen between the eleventh and twelfth week, 6% happen between the thirteenth and fifteenth week, 4% happen between the sixteenth and twentieth week, and 1% of all abortions (16,450/yr.) happen after the twentieth week of pregnancy.

Likelihood of abortion:

An estimated 43% of all women will have at least one abortion by the time they are forty five years old. 47% of all abortions are performed on women who have had at least one previous abortion.

EMBRYONIC EXPERIMENTATION

Common place

Abortion is common place now. It is no longer a shocking thing to most people and there are probably more people in favour of it than against.

I can't help but wonder how the developers of contraceptives and the killing methods of abortion knew what would work and my mind goes back to the Nazi rape of women where their reproductive organs were taken out and studied after the raped women were murdered. Because abortion is widely accepted as a necessary evil, we as a race have become desensitised. It is because of this desensitising that many no longer see the child in the womb as a person. When we take away the humanity of the child then we can, in all conscience, allow anything to happen to it. It is this that gives rise to and justifies foetal experimentation.

Like what Nazi doctors said

Scientists have been let loose on human embryos, doing as they please, since abortion was legalised in 1967 in the UK. Many scientists and governments, drunk with the euphoria of daring to go where no man has gone before, see babies to be aborted, aborted babies, embryos not used in IVF etc., as opportunities not to be missed in leading the way in medical advances. Quite like what Nazi doctors said in their own defence during the Nuremberg trials. Dr. Julius Hallervorden testified that he said; "If you are going to kill all these (Jewish) people, at least take the brains out so that the material may be utilised."

Very lucrative

Foetal experimentation, as in the abortion industry, is a very lucrative one. The abortionist can charge a fee for the actual abortion and then use the child's body for further earnings.

Foetal experimentation is described and proudly displayed in the world's prestigious medical journals.

The following extracts were compiled by www.truthtv.org. You may want to read of the many more atrocities at: <http://www.truthtv.org/issues/foetal-experiments/case-study/>

Sweden

In the mid-1970s, researchers from four British medical schools began experimentation on live, late-term aborted babies. Dr. Ian Donald, the British gynecologist who first applied ultrasound to obstetrics, told reporters that he had personally witnessed experiments being performed on near-term alive aborted babies at Sweden's Karolinska Institute. The babies, who were not even afforded the mercy of anaesthetic, writhed and cried in agony, and when their usefulness had expired, they were executed and discarded as garbage.

Father Paul Marx, O.S.B. Confessions of a Pro-Life Missionary. Gaithersburg, Maryland: HLI

Finland

At the University of Helsinki in Finland, Dr. Peter Adam of Case Western Reserve University participated in experiments on unborn babies of up to twenty one week's gestation who were aborted by hysterotomy. The babies were kept alive and then their heads were cut off (the researchers thought that such a term was too grisly to use, so they employed the words "isolating surgically from the other organs").

Post-Abortion Foetal Study Stirs Storm. Medical World News, June 8, 1973

This was the same type of 'research' performed by Russian lab workers who had kept "surgically isolated" dog heads alive in the early 1950s. The alleged purpose of this "research," as described in the June 1973 issue of Medical World News, was to ascertain the chemical-processing capability of live foetal brain cells. The cranial tissues were kept alive for up to thirty minutes by pumping fluids through the brain. Dr. Adam later presented the results of his experimentation at an American Pediatric Society symposium, and also published his conclusions in the Transactions of the American Pediatric Society and the Acta Paediatrica Scandinavica.

The August 8, 1975 Federal Register noted the details of this particularly ghastly experiment, which echoed very strongly those performed in Nazi hospitals; "To learn whether the human foetal brain could metabolise ketone bodies as an alternative to glucose, brain metabolism was isolated in eight human foetuses (twelve to seventeen weeks gestation) after hysterotomy abortion, by perfusing the head separated from the rest of the body. This study, conducted in Finland, demonstrated that the human foetus, like previously studied animal foetuses, could modify metabolic processes to utilise ketone bodies."

When colleagues criticised him for his ghastly experiments, Dr. Adam replied that "Once society's declared the foetus dead, and abrogated its rights, I don't see any ethical problem ... Whose rights are we going to protect once we've decided the foetus won't live?"

New York, USA

The March 15, 1973 Washington Post reported that Dr. Gerald Gaul, Chief of Pediatrics at the New York State Institute of Basic Research in Mental Retardation, "...injects radioactive chemicals into fragile umbilical cords of foetuses freshly removed from their mother's womb in abortions. While the heart is still beating, he removes their brains, lungs, livers, and kidneys for study."

Joan Wester Anderson. Beyond Abortion Foetal Experimentation. Our Sunday Visitor, April 13, 1975

Australia

An Australian legislator asked a genetics researcher why he used human foetuses in his experiments rather than monkey foetuses, and the researcher said that "Monkey foetuses were more precious, as there were fewer of them available than human foetuses."

Mark Kahabka. Eugenics Revisited Fidelity Magazine, July/August 1988

Connecticut, USA

In March of 1973, Connecticut's Attorney General testified before the United States Supreme Court that, at Yale-New Haven Hospital, a living, viable aborted baby boy had been dissected without anesthesia until he finally died.

A Dr. Kekomaki would take late-term aborted babies and, while they were still alive, would slice them open and ransack their organs without even giving them an anesthetic. A nurse observed one case and said that; "They took the foetus and cut its belly open. They said they wanted its liver. They carried the baby out of the incubator and it was still alive. It was a boy. It had a complete body, with hands, feet, mouth and ears. It was even secreting urine." Asked to explain the reasons for this atrocious 'experiment,' Kekomaki replied that "An aborted baby is just garbage." Our Sunday Visitor.

"Cardinal Relates Horror Story About Human Foetuses." March 29, 1987

New York, USA

In 1974, the FDA approved a prostaglandin Prostin F2 Alpha, for use in second trimester abortions. The use of this compound often results in the delivery of a live baby in the late second and early third trimester which can then be used in experiments. Dr. Durt Hirshhorn of New York's Sinai Hospital enthused that: "...with prostaglandins, you can arrange the whole abortion so (the baby) comes out viable in the sense that it can survive hours, or a day ... It is not possible to make this foetus into a child, therefore we can consider it as nothing more than a piece of tissue."

National Observer, April 21, 1973

Animals have more protective rights

As you can see from the above extracts from the "truthv.org" website, experiments have been going on for years on unborn children because they are so readily available and there are less restrictions and legal issues on unwanted babies than on animals. Animals have more protective rights.

IVF

IVF is a product of extensive and destructive experimentation on human embryos. And, IVF has provided scientists with an efficient assembly line for this "product" - abortion has made the status of an embryo a "product" - which supply the scientists with fresh, deep frozen, sterile human beings upon which they carry out their experiments!

Through the sin of masturbation, sperm is collected. Because of the low success rate, many ova or eggs are collected from the woman through superovulation. This hormonal treatment makes the woman produce many more eggs than in her normal cycle, some women have died through this procedure. The sperm and egg may then be fertilized in a petri-dish, and thus embryos are conceived. Each embryo created, in that moment, has everything it needs to grow and develop into a unique, adult human being. In IVF however, on the petri-dish, the embryos then go through quality control screening test, the "fittest" embryos are selected and transferred to the womb of the mother, the other embryos are used in embryonic experimentation (in the UK) or frozen for later use by the parents, or, if deemed poor quality, allowed to perish!

Please bear in mind, these embryos are not just clumps of cells, they are people, they have a soul from the moment of conception.

Scandalous activities on humans

Through the whole process of IVF, which seems to so many as something good, it has produced sperm and egg donation and embryo banks, and because of these, scientists have a wealthy supply to carry out so many scandalous activities on humans such as cloning, stem cell research, and even mixing humans and animals.

Regulations

Scientists have been doing as they please, since abortion was legalised. It was only in 1990 that regulations were put in place in the U.K. as a recommendation of Baroness Warnock's Report.

You may have heard of Baroness Mary Warnock, who believes this world is overpopulated, as her pro-euthanasia comments reached the headlines:

Baroness Warnock says elderly have 'duty to die' Friday 19 September 2008

...Lady Warnock's comments, which were published in an interview with the magazine of the Church of Scotland, Life and Work, have been condemned by dementia charities.

She told the magazine: "If you're demented, you're wasting people's lives – your family's lives – and you're wasting the resources of the National Health Service..." ...Baroness Warnock also voted in favour of the creation of animal-human embryos when the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Bill was considered by the House of Lords.

For the full story, go to: <http://www.christian.org.uk/news/baroness-warnock-says-elderly-have-duty-to-die/>

Their fourteenth day

As you may have guessed from the immoral, unchristian mindset of the Baroness and her team, they didn't do much to protect the unborn, in fact the report just recommended laws to encourage it! They recommended destructive experimentation be carried out on live embryos up until their fourteenth day after fertilisation!

Partial Birth Abortion

Partial Birth Abortion in the USA is a superior way to obtain undamaged viable foetal tissue for scientific experiments.

God only knows

Unborn children are harvested, experimented on, dismembered, dissected while still alive, allowed to develop, used in organ farms, disposed of, left to perish... in order for scientists to find cures and use their organs for transplants on adults, or their tissues and cells in research, their eggs in IVF...; to produce vaccines, for beauty products, and God only knows what else.

Organ scandals

Our desensitisation has progressed into killing born children when we hear about the Bristol Royal Infirmary babies scandal when thirty five babies under the age of one died unnecessarily between 1991 and 1995. Also, in Liverpool Alder Hey hospital, thousands of body parts were removed from children without parental consent, and more than one hundred and five thousand body parts and foetuses were being stored in hospitals across Britain. To read more about these scandals go to: <http://www.historyandpolicy.org/papers/policy-paper-03.html>

Royal foetus research shares by SARAH BRIDGE, Mail on Sunday

The Queen has sparked a furious row with Pro-Life groups by investing in a controversial biopharmaceutical firm carrying out experiments on aborted human foetuses.

Some two hundred thousand pounds of her money has been ploughed into ReNeuron Holdings, which specialises in using human stem cells - the basic building blocks of the body - for medical and research purposes.

It also genetically engineers cells from foetuses and injects them into animals for research. The Queen's investment, carried out by Sir Michael Peat, Keeper of the Privy Purse has caused outrage among religious and Pro-Life groups. They are incensed that she helped to finance the firm by buying more than one hundred and two thousand shares at 195p a share when it floated on the Stock Market in November. The Queen's original stake is now worth nearly two hundred and thirteen thousand pounds. It is only days since the shocking report which confirmed that thousands of body parts were removed from children at Alder Hey hospital without parental consent, and that more than one hundred and five thousand body parts and foetuses were being stored in hospitals across Britain.

ReNeuron, which was set up in Guildford, Surrey, in 1997 and has publicly supported legislation allowing the cloning of human embryos, uses brain stem cells in its research into brain degenerative diseases such as Parkinson's and Alzheimer's.

But the practice has come under attack from groups such as the Roman Catholic Church and Pro-Life organisations.

Science labs which carry out experiments on human tissue are dependent on organs from hospitals and foetuses from abortion clinics. Foetuses up to twelve weeks old can be used for experiments.

Paul Tulley, general secretary of the Society for the Protection of Unborn Children, said: 'I don't think it's the kind of thing anyone should be investing in. It's ethically unacceptable because, as the baby has been aborted at the consent of the mother, she can't give consent for its use in this kind of research.'

Rabbi Chaim Rapaport, medical ethics adviser to Chief Rabbi Jonathan Sacks, said: 'At twelve weeks old, a foetus is essentially a baby and we do not believe in using dead bodies for medical research.'

'The idea of treating dead bodies as some sort of resource of tissue, sinew, blood and bone, strikes at the very core of the belief system of what the body is about.'

The man behind ReNeuron is flamboyant Dr Chris Evans, forty three, whose biotechnology investment vehicle, Merlin Biosciences, owns more than fifty per cent of the company.

Evans has founded seventeen firms, such as biotech companies Chiroscience and Celltech. Evans, worth one hundred and thirty million pounds according to The Mail on Sunday's Rich Report, was knighted in the New Year's Honours List.

John Sinden, chief science officer at ReNeuron, confirmed that aborted foetuses up to twelve weeks old were being used. But 'very few' were needed, he said.

Foetuses are obtained from the London teaching hospitals, such as University College Hospital, and Guys and St Thomas's.

'People may take the view that using these materials is wrong, but we're generating something that will benefit lots of people,' said Mr Sinden who added that all foetuses used came with signed consent...

Europe

On the europa website (http://ec.europa.eu/research/fp6/index\_en.cfm?p=1\_stem\_projects) the European Commission have excitedly announced its "Framework Programme for Research and Development and human embryonic stem cell research."

It looks forward to compiling information to advance in stem cell research. Spain are supplying the baby embryos and Germany are supplying the heavily government funded expertise. What is particularly interesting, and scary at the same time, is the well acclaimed contribution from Germany, an expert at experimentation!

"...This registry is expected to boost the coordination and the rationalisation of human embryonic stem cell research in Europe. It will provide a platform to maximise reproducibility, comparability and transparency in the field.... It is expected to last for three years with EU funding of just over one million euros."

This European Registry will be jointly operated by Anna

Veiga from the Stem Cell Bank of the Centre of Regenerative Medicine in Barcelona (CRMB) and Joeri Borstlap from the CellNet initiative at Berlin-Brandenburg Centre for Regenerative Therapies in Berlin (BCRT).

The CRMB is one of the Spanish research centres approved to carry out research with donated frozen human embryos and human embryonic stem cells, financed - by the Spanish Ministry of Health, and the Catalan Government. The BCRT is a collaboration between Europe's largest university hospital, the Charité, and Germany's largest research organization, the Helmholtz association. The centre has recently received substantial financial support from the German Federal Government to develop an internationally visible centre of excellence in regenerative medicine.

...What EU funding is provided for stem cell research?

A total of around one hundred and four projects are currently supported within the Sixth Framework Programme that involve at least one component of stem cell research. These one hundred and four projects represent in total an EC contribution of around five hundred million euros. Out of these one hundred and four projects, eighteen involve human embryonic stem cells (hESC). This means that currently around 83% of the projects only involve somatic stem cells (adult & foetal stem cells) and essentially adult stem cells (at least 95% of these projects) and around 17% also involve hESC. It may be estimated that when all FP6 projects have come to an end, around twenty one million euros will have been dedicated to hESC research. This means around 0,85% of the budget of the health research programme in FP6 (which is around €2,45 billion) and around 0,10% of the total FP6 budget (more than €17,5 billion).

What they plan

It is interesting to note that Spain was one of the countries that sympathised with Nazi Germany at the end of World War II. Also interesting is the fact that when Germany was doing all the experimentation during this war - which the Allies (France, Britain, Italy and America) publicly protested against - it seems that the European Allies have now joined forces with Germany in this human embryonic stem cell research!

I wonder is this what Jesus was talking about in His Message on the Feast of the Most Sacred Heart, Friday 11 June: "...I call upon My two sons and My servants to find My House in the city of the seat of power in Europe for there the prayer can thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn. This I ask for quickly..."

HYBRIDS

Crossing the bounds of free will

On Wednesday 18 September 2002, Jesus gave a Message in which He talked about man crossing the bounds of free will in that they were creating life. He said that He could not allow this and likened it to the Nephtali's interference before He had to destroy the world by flooding it. Below is an extract from the Message and Song of the Carpenter.

...If I came in My Power, as you say, to change in mankind the balance of free will, then the evil one must also be given greater power to try to bring mankind away from Me. This would very quickly bring about the downfall of all creation. If I took man's free will away then I would be in untruth. Free will was My Gift to mankind. I cannot remove it from him.

Patrick:

But You will come to remove all evil from the earth?

Jesus:

Yes, My son, but at the appointed time. When man himself oversteps the bounds of free will, the bounds of all creation, as did the Nephtali. It is not within man's power to destroy all creation, this is why I must intervene. The balance of life must be held. This, man cannot comprehend.

There are many things that man cannot understand about creation. Free will was given to man as a Gift, a Gift that has been abused all through the centuries. This Gift does not give man the right to create life for then he interferes with free will. This, he is in the process of doing. This I cannot allow.

Very soon, he shall make the same mistake, as did the Nephtali, and I shall be forced to intervene.

In doing so, the evil one will also rise to his full height. He shall gain power on this earth and all creation shall know and see the existence of evil.

This path has been foretold within My Scriptures, in all prophecy that has been given from the beginning of time. Man does not want to know, he does not want to see what he brings upon himself. He is blind and caught up in his own greed. He cannot take time to see that he is bringing about his own destruction.

I say, My people, look at what is happening! Look at what is happening around you and see the Truth that I speak of! You are but children, yet you desire to be adults and make adult decisions. Can you not see you are about to bring about your own downfall? You have weapons upon this earth that you will use against yourselves...

Song of the Carpenter

...Mankind was errant, had been from the beginning. His Father had made it easy but man, himself, had chosen to walk away, chosen to bring sin into paradise. He had had so much, had been given so much. In the beginning, his Father had bestowed upon man the power of the spirit world, had created him to be a little lower than the Angels and allowed him the benefits of Heaven. Each had his own gift, a gift that was to be an extension of Gods own hand so that the Father's love would always be with him. Man had been perfectly created but man 'allowed sin to stay at the door like a crouching beast hungering for him.' All that was required of man was that he mastered himself, that he died to the self within him so that he could better do what was required of him. The Father had planned kingdoms for mankind beyond any human imagination but man had allowed his selfishness to destroy that plan.

Of all the created, his Father had loved man, but man allowed himself to be weak in the pleasures of sin. Man was proud and always, only too late, realised that humility in all things was the gift and the power of God but humility must come before pride is allowed to enter, before it becomes truly effective. Future generations of mankind would fall into the same trap if he did not listen.

The hunger pangs began to gnaw at Jesus' belly. He had been without food for more than ten days and only drinking water when required. His body was rebelling against the lack of food but not giving in was the way to control it, to master the crouching beast of sin. He knew that he, himself, was without sin but he had to be the first to walk along this path to self dying and to carry that through into eternity so that man could follow. Unlike those who had gone before him.

Man's downfall was in wandering off the path to God to seek other things that might be better than God. His Father had had to strip man of the power that he had given him. Bit by bit, it had to be removed as one might remove fire from a child who had no responsibility, who would end up burnt. When the Angels roamed the earth in spirit form they could be seen and touched by man. The Angels had been given leave by his Father to help man in his undertakings.

Before the Father caused the Flooding of the earth, Jesus remembered, the Angels who helped man were given human qualities so that they could understand the essence of human nature, the better to help him. Man could see and touch these spirits, these sons of God. They became the servants of man in the ideal world that the Father had created, helping man to understand the spiritually intimate balance that God had created in creating the earth. Man revered them because they still had that contact with God that man had lost through the sin of Adam. Their appearance too, had a spiritual quality, for they were still shining with the touch of God. Their height held man in awe and wonder and sometimes man treated the Angels as gods.

The human qualities that the Angels had been given began to corrupt the spiritual side of them, though not enough to cause sin, but slowly they began to see as men saw. Pride, that old weapon against God, began to curl its tendrils around them and because of it, they saw that they, too, could be better off than servants. They had looked at the daughters of men and saw how beautiful that they were and all human instincts came to the fore and drowned the spiritual.

What man does not realise is that Angels are given free will to choose. These sons of God chose to allow the human part that they were given to override the spiritual. They copulated with the daughters of man, in their free will, amid many warnings from the Father. When the daughters of men gave birth to these new creations that were begat of Angels, the spiritual and human aspects of both cemented and the human became the overlord of the two. The flesh was now in control of a greater spiritual power, than the human possessed, in the fruits of this strange copulation.

These fruits or children grew in stature to become giants, that overshadowed the rest of mankind and they immolated the spiritual qualities, in favour of the knowledge that had been gained in the combination of the two. This knowledge could have been used for the betterment of the relationship between God and man. But it was not; it was used against him.

Finding power within them, these Nephilim, as they grew to maturity, involved themselves with the delicate balance of creation.

They created strange life that played no part in Gods creation; useless life, without soul or any connection with the spiritual, that wandered the earth doing violence to man and beast that the Father had created to live in harmony. They had touched the Laws that held the universe, so intricately woven together, and tampered with it and could not make it better than God had already made it to be. The earth and the stars and the planets had been still then, they did not need to move in perpetual motion for the Father's hand held them, but through an impulsiveness and a lack of obedience to the One whose infinite knowledge had created all to be the way that it was, they had almost destroyed creation.

Jesus remembered how he, as one with the Father, had watched as the violence of spiritual power unleashed, gathered momentum and threatened the destruction of the universe. He had watched the Father weep and had wept at the sight. Mankind had to be stopped. The Father raised his hand and a great sleep came upon the earth. All of creation stopped, halted and became still and immovable. A great silence descended upon the earth and no living thing spoke or breathed. All were suspended, held. And just as the Father had caused Adam to fall into a deep sleep to remove his rib to create Eve, so too he removed the knowledge that ran wild upon the earth. He removed two thirds of man's mind, to blot out the knowledge of greater things so that man could not aspire to destroy the things that were not his to destroy. His Father had said, "My spirit must not forever be disgraced in man, and shall not always strive with man, for he is but flesh: yet his days shall be a hundred and twenty years."

Jesus stood, feeling the stiffness in his legs and feet. Soon the blood would return to them and they would be normal again, flowing freely to bring the nutrients that the body needed to maintain itself. His mission was like that. He was here to offer mankind a foolproof method of restoring the balance and of keeping it that way. Gods love was immeasurable in human terms. Jesus, himself, was the proof of it. Like the Angels who once were on the earth to help man were given human qualities, he had taken on humanness. He was to know and experience every aspect of it; every detail, every suffering, every darkness, every joy, every life, every way of life and show man that it was possible to live Gods way when self was destroyed 'as the crouching beast at the door, hungering for him.'

Seems so barbaric

In reading these words I cannot help but feel that we are doing the same now particularly with the creation and experimentation of hybrid embryos. It all seems so barbaric and far removed from God that it is unbelievable, but this is going on today in our midst.

The science Bioethics: Human- animal hybrid embryos

In May 2008 a cross-party attempt to ban hybrid human animal embryos was defeated on a free vote in the House of Commons, by three hundred and thirty six to one hundred and seventy six. MPs had been debating the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Bill, which would allow regulated research using hybrid or 'admix' embryos, where the nuclei of human cells are inserted into animal eggs. The resulting embryos would be kept for up to fourteen days to harvest stem cells.

Present state

In the present state of science, hybrid embryos are produced as research tools, and only kept alive for fourteen days or fewer. The article below only deals with the ethical issues of this case, and not with the ethics of producing new creatures that are a combination of animal and human. http://www.bbc.co.uk/ethics/animals/using/hybridembryos\_1.shtml

What is a human-animal embryo?

True hybrid embryos are the result of fertilising an egg with the sperm of another closely related species; for example, a mule is the hybrid offspring of a donkey and a horse.

Chimeric embryos are made by injecting cells or genetic material from one species into the embryo of another. Scientists at Stanford University in California plan to use this technique to create a mouse with ten percent human brain cells. The third type are human transgenic embryos, made by injecting a segment of animal DNA into a human egg.

The fourth type of hybrid, the kind being developed in British universities, is called cytoplasmic. It is created by transferring the nuclei of human cells, such as skin cells, into animal eggs from which almost all the genetic information has been removed. The resulting embryo would contain only a tiny amount of animal DNA – around 0.1% – and the rest would be human. The embryo would be grown in a lab to a size of around two hundred cells.

Cast your mind back now to the artificial insemination experiment of the Nazis. The very fact that Dr. Clauberg told the women that he was injecting them with animal sperm shows that they were thinking about it whether we can prove that they actually did it or not.

Why create human-animal embryos?

Scientists developing these embryos say they will provide a plentiful source of stem cells – immature cells that can develop into many different types of tissue – for use in medical research. Researchers believe that, by producing stem cells carrying the genetic defects of diseases, they will be able to work out how a cell's molecular machinery goes awry and perhaps find new cures for diseases.

The research has been hampered by the severe shortage of "spare" human eggs donated by couples undergoing fertility treatment. By using animal eggs, which are far more readily available, British research teams hope to make more rapid progress. Their experiments have shown that the stem cells harvested from hybrid and chimeric embryos behave identically to human ones.

Who are the scientists?

A team led by Professor Stephen Minger, director of the stem cell biology laboratory at King's College London, has been offered a licence by the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority (HFEA) to use human-bovine embryos to study degenerative neurological diseases such as Parkinson's and Alzheimer's. Dr Lyle Armstrong, of the North-east England Stem Cell Institute, Newcastle University, has a licence to use cow eggs to research replacement tissues for use in treating conditions such as diabetes and spinal paralysis. His team has successfully created such embryos: one developed for three days until it had thirty two cells. The research has not yet been published, but the team plans to submit the work for peer-review in the next few months.

A third team, led by Professor Ian Wilmut, the Edinburgh-based creator of the first cloned mammal, Dolly the sheep, wants to create human-rabbit embryos to develop treatments for motor neurone disease, although the team has yet to apply for a licence.

What are the objections?

There were three hundred responses to the government consultation, with two hundred and twenty seven opposed to the research, many of them from Pro-Life groups opposed to any intrusive study of embryos. Many Catholics object to the idea of mixing human and animal DNA within the same entity and to the notion of creating what they regard as a life for the purposes of research – a life that will then be destroyed. Cardinal Keith O'Brien denounced the research as experiments of "Frankenstein proportion." But some scientists are also sceptical. Professor Sir John Gurdon, a Cambridge University researcher who has injected human DNA into frogs' eggs, told the Guardian: "Scientifically ... I'm not persuaded it will work. If you put cells from one species into the egg of another, the egg may divide, but you could get a lot of genetic abnormality that won't lead to good quality stem cells."

What does the law say?

The Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990 does not clearly set out the parameters of human-animal embryo research. The HFEA (Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority) approved such research after it decided that the embryos being created were in effect human and thus fell under the remit of the current law. However, if the HFEA were to decide hybrid embryos were not human, the research would fall outside the law and escape regulation. The human fertilisation and embryology bill will define the parameters of embryo research. It proposes that hybrid embryos could not legally be implanted into a woman's womb, or an animal's.

What is the situation in other countries?

Chinese scientists were reportedly the first to successfully create human-animal embryos. In 2003 a team at the Shanghai Second Medical University fused human cells with rabbit eggs. The embryos were allowed to develop for several days in a laboratory dish before being destroyed to harvest their stem cells. Later that same year, a US scientist, Panayiotis Zavos, announced he had created "human-cow" embryos that lived for around a fortnight and could theoretically have been implanted into a woman's womb. In 2004 researchers at the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota produced pigs with hybrid pig-human blood cells. In 2005 Parkinson's disease researchers at the Salk Institute in San Diego reported they had created mice with 0.01% human cells by injecting about one hundred thousand human embryonic stem cells per mouse. Last year a Yale researcher, Eugene Redmond, led a project injecting millions of human neural stem cells into the brains of monkeys afflicted with Parkinson's disease. Many countries have banned this human-animal embryo research, including Australia, Canada, France, Germany and Italy. <http://www.guardian.co.uk/science/2007/may/17/genetics.health1>

Scary statistics

In 2007, a poll conducted by the HFEA found that 61% of the public supported the research after having the process and goals explained to them, while a quarter was opposed to the research. <http://www.bbc.co.uk/ethics/animals/using/hybridembryos1.shtml> What I find really frightening is that there is a majority who are in favour of such experimentation.

Conclusion

The general public are in favour of all these abuses of science. Is it short-sightedness, blindness or a perverse desire for self preservation? I don't know but all I can say is that in Nazi Germany, which up until researching for this article I had thought was a great taboo in the medical world, the people too had been in favour of science.

A German obsession

The goal of perfecting and glorifying the human form was a German obsession in the years leading up to the Nazi regime. You could say the population were primed and ready. After the first world war, Germany was full of the graves of her people, she was suffering a declining birthrate, economic depression and the loss of Germany's colonies in the Treaty of Versailles - all contributed to a sense of doom among the population. In the 1920's and 1930's, science was increasingly seen as a potential saviour, able to provide an antidote to the suffering, death and destruction brought about by the war. Advances in industry, medicine and the fledgling science of genetics promised extraordinary scientific breakthroughs and new pathways to human improvement. This new science brought hope to a devastated population, with crowds of people flocking to eugenic exhibitions.

Play with science

At universities and hospitals, researchers in psychology, anthropology, and biology began to play fast and loose with science. They extended theories about individual biology into theories about entire populations, and turned ideas about the evolution of animal species into recipes for better human breeding. These scientists suggested that the "Nordic" population was headed for "extinction," and that its only chance for survival lay in strengthening and purifying its race. It is alarming to see how quickly these ideas trickled down into high school and college textbooks.

Groomed into believing

German school children were groomed into believing that certain people didn't belong in their society, that they were a superior race. "...In the German public schools, this ideology was also inculcated in the impressionable and fertile minds of the children. For instance, the German public school textbook of mathematics had problems such as: "How many new housing units could be built and how many marriage-allowance loans could be given to newly wedded couples for the amount of money it costs the state to care for 'the crippled, the criminal, and the insane?'..." <http://www.jpands.org/hacienda/article28.html>

Abortant morning after pill

People who didn't fit into their description of the Aryan type as being blond, pale and blue eyed were deemed unfit and unwanted. Only a select people would survive. It is interesting to note that Farben, the company that manufactured the gas to kill the Jews, during the Nazi era is also the same company (Roussel) that makes the abortifacient morning after pill RU 486. Farben (now called Hoechst's) was a prominent participant in the chemical war against Jews during the Nazi era. Hoechst is a major participant in the chemical annihilation of the unborn today. Farben made a momentous contribution to the science of chemical warfare by testing its deadly products on victims selected for extermination in Nazi gas chambers. The contribution of Hoechst's subsidiary, Roussel, to the field of chemical warfare consists of lethal experiments on and the direct killing of unborn children. <http://www.lifeissues.org/ru486/brennan.htm>

Look at all this honestly

We have to look at all this honestly and see where we fit in. Are we one of those 61% who believe that this type of research is necessary and good?

Have we too been slowly brainwashed into believing that the 'end justifies the means?'

And is there any real difference in what was happening in Nazi Germany then and what is happening all over the world today, and we are condoning it!

Look at what we are doing

Look at what we are doing with stem cell research, look at how many of us agree with it because in the end it could be used to treat people with the likes of Parkinson's disease etc.

Look at the way we are slowly being convinced that it is a person's right to die if they are unfit to look after themselves, look at how we are being persuaded towards euthanasia.

Look at the levels of abortion in our society today, look how we are all given abnormality scans at twenty weeks gestation during pregnancy to see if the baby is 'ok,' or to give us a choice to kill it rather than bring a genetically inferior child into this world.

Look and see how IVF is seen as a good thing because it allows couples to have children but nobody sees the many embryos that have been destroyed in the process or now lie frozen awaiting scientific experimentation.

Look at what they're doing with embryos and aborted babies, using their tissues for stem cell research and cosmetic products.

Read with fresh eyes

Now read with fresh eyes "...I call upon My two sons and My servants to find My House in the city of the seat of power in Europe for there the prayer can thwart what they plan to do with the little ones as yet unborn..."

Given all the above information, I begin to see why Jesus needs and wants this House so badly. He wants it in the heart of the city of the seat of power in Europe for, as we have already covered in previous Newsletters, Europe has become anti-God and now that they have thrown God out in favour of science, it can do whatever it likes, just like the dictatorship of Nazi Germany. What is to happen to all those babies as yet unborn? I dread to think and only God knows! What is really scary is that we as a people have already accepted much of this evil as good.

Brussels

What is going to happen in Brussels?

What can Jesus see that we cannot?

Please, if you can help in any way at all in the purchasing of this House, please do. Another question is, will we make ourselves available to man it to keep it open so that there is constant prayer coming from it to thwart the plans that are made against these little ones as yet unborn?

The Holy Scriptures

Romans 15:1-7

1 Now we that are stronger, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.

2 Let every one of you please his neighbour unto good, to edification.

3 For Christ did not please Himself, but as it is written: The reproaches of them that reproached thee, fell upon Me.

As we ourselves have been brought close to God by His Grace, He needs us to be victim souls who like Jesus, will carry the faults and sins of many, Jesus can warm other hearts through our giving and draw them to Him.

4 For what things soever were written, were written for our learning: that through patience and the comfort of the scriptures, we might have hope.

The Living Word is the fuel for our souls. It is a balm of peace. It invigorates us and makes fervent our serving God.

5 Now the God of patience and of comfort grant you to be of one mind one towards another, according to Jesus Christ:

6 That with one mind, and with one mouth, you may glorify God and the Father of Our Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus said, "...Those who know Me and believe in Me have peace in their hearts..."

Thursday 11 February 2010
When Jesus ascended to the Father He said to His Apostles: "I leave you Peace, My Peace I give you, and so it is with us.

7 Wherefore receive one another, as Christ also hath received you unto the honour of God.

Our service is for the greater Glory of God, and for His Glory only, in keeping with the Catechism answer, "To know, love and serve Him here on earth and to be happy with Him forever in Heaven."

Weekend with the Patricks

For those of you who don't know what this is, basically it is a weekend where the Patricks make themselves available to the public to give talks, share the Messages of Jesus and to answer questions any of us may have. It is a great opportunity and we can learn much about the spiritual if we are willing to listen.

For those who wish to stay at the House of Prayer for the Weekend, please give us at least three days notice.

Looking forward to seeing you there!

Friday 15 October to

This Weekend also incorporates a Walk against Abortion around Cookstown leaving the House of Prayer at 3pm on the Saturday.

Halloween Vigil Halloween Night Vigil Sunday 31 October

We will be holding a vigil from 10pm to 2am to offer prayers to help appease Jesus' Pain on this night when much evil lurks. This is what Jesus says about this night:

...Look at this night, a night of terror, when lucifer and his dominions are celebrated openly in this world. It is a night of spirits, a night of worship when the people, who worship lucifer, come out of their nests and create many acts of darkness. Many sacrifices are given to him on this night but do you care, children? You go out into your streets and celebrate this night, as if it were any other night... Thursday 31 October 2002

Sexual Immorality

Unnecessary sex education

Sexual immorality leads to death of the soul if not repented over, yet in our society it is accepted and approved as the norm. It seems like the world thinks something is wrong with you if you are not sexually active. Even in schools, children are taught unnecessary sex education, how to have sex, different positions, same sex relationships, use of contraceptives and where to get abortion etc.

Brainwashed by TV

If you manage to keep away from sex education in school, you will be brainwashed by TV, media and the internet that sex is ok in any situation. If you walk into a newsagents, it's not long before you can see top shelf magazines with sexual images on the cover. Even on advertisements along the road, on buses, in tube stations, etc you can't get away from it.

Government funded

Can you believe the following information given on lifesitenews.com on 18 August 2010? Even the more vulnerable members of our society are exposed to it and encouraged to take part in the sins of the flesh.

'The British social services

system is providing a mentally disabled man a prostitute at public expense. The Sunday Telegraph revealed that the trip is part of a national care program instituted by the former Labour government that also provides funding for lap dancing clubs, holidays abroad and subscriptions to internet dating services to people with disabilities.

Human rights

The unnamed man's social worker, who spoke on condition of anonymity, defended the decision, saying that "refusing to offer him this service would be a violation of his human rights." The social worker told the Telegraph that social services are there to "identify and meet the needs" of clients, and described the young man as "angry and frustrated."

Wants to "try it"

The twenty one year old man with developmental problems is scheduled to go to the Netherlands next month for the visit to an Amsterdam brothel. The social worker said that the visit to the brothel was only one part of the planned trip: "He's planning to do more than just have his end away (have sex) – he's having a holiday," he said.

The man has attended two "sexual health and sexual awareness courses" and now wants to "try it." He added, "The girls in Amsterdam are far more protected than those on UK streets. Let him have some fun - I'd want to."

Live as they wish

The five hundred and twenty million pounds scheme, called "Putting People First: Transforming Adult Social Care," was touted as a means to provide elderly people and those with disabilities additional help with mobility devices and home assistance. A document published in 2007 said that the plan was to "put people first through a radical reform of public services, enabling people to live their own lives as they wish... and promote their own individual needs for independence, well-being and dignity."

Funding for sex

Freedom of Information requests revealed that four local council authorities admit to "condoning" the payment of "sex workers" by disabled clients. Trafford council, in Greater Manchester, said that budgets for disabled care can be spent on anything so long as it is not illegal, "or anything that would bring the council into disrepute." A spokesman for Knowsley council in Merseyside said requests for funding for sex would be "looked at on a case by case nature."

Part of normal operations

Three years ago, a British hospice for the disabled run by an Anglican nun had arranged for a disabled man to have sex with a prostitute. The Douglas hospice in Oxford was revealed by the Telegraph to have actively cooperated to find a "sex worker" for twenty two year old Nick Wallis, a patient suffering Duchenne muscular dystrophy. It was not widely understood at the time, however, that the practice was considered part of normal operations by government funded social services. (lifesitenews.com)

Leads to many disasters

If sex outside marriage is ok then why is it that it leads to many disasters, ie: sexually transmitted diseases, including those which prevent pregnancy in the future, HIV, AIDS, unwanted pregnancies, abortion, broken relationships, broken families and psychological problems to name but a few? Can you really believe that sex brings happiness? If it does bring happiness in this life, it certainly won't in the next.

Do not be deceived

Saint Paul tells us in Galatians 5 'that the sinful nature desires what is contrary to the Spirit and the Spirit what is contrary to the sinful nature, they are in conflict with each other and he adds 'The acts of the sinful nature are obvious: sexual immorality, impurity and debauchery; idolatry and witchcraft; hatred, discord, jealousy, fits of rage, selfish ambition, dissensions, factions and envy; drunkenness, orgies, and the like. I warn you, as I did before, that those who live like this will not inherit the Kingdom of God.'

Again in 1 Corinthians 6, 9-10 Saint Paul says:

"Do not be deceived: Neither the sexually immoral, nor idolaters nor adulterers nor male prostitutes nor homosexual offenders nor thieves nor the greedy nor drunkards nor slanderers nor swindlers will inherit the kingdom of God."

Also he tells us that sexual sins are sins against the body and we should flee from them. The body is a temple of the Holy Spirit and we should honour God with our bodies. Jesus tells us in the Messages of Love that the sexual sins of the world beat Him. Souls fall into hell daily like snowflakes because of the sins of the flesh.

Become one flesh

When Jesus spoke to the pharisees about adultery and divorce, He said that not all people would accept the teaching but from the beginning it was Gods Law that man and woman should join together and become one flesh and that what God has put together no man could separate.

On 19 March 2006, Jesus said in a Message:

"...Love has grown cold and human love has come to the fore. Sex is not love, children, it is only lust when acted on outside of marriage. Sex is a total giving of oneself to the other, you become one in My sight at that moment.

How can you give yourself totally to someone that you do not really love with a pure love, a love Blessed by Me, your God, in the Sacrament of Marriage? Outside of marriage, it is evil and a calumny in My sight..."

Warned

In 1 Thessalonians 4, Saint Paul reveals:

"It is Gods Will that you should be sanctified: that you should avoid sexual immorality; that each of you should learn to control his own body in a way that is holy and honourable, not in passionate lust like the heathen, who do not know God; and that in this matter no-one should wrong his brother or take advantage of him. The Lord will punish men for all such sins, as we have already told you and warned you. For God did not call us to be impure but to live a holy life. Therefore he who rejects this instruction does not reject man but God, who gives you His Holy Spirit.

In these modern times sex is accepted as the norm outside marriage but just because the world accepts it, doesn't mean to say we should. Jesus' Teachings remain the same, today, yesterday and forever.

A woman with dark hair, wearing a red dress, is sitting in a bathtub. She is holding a baby wrapped in a white blanket. The water in the tub is light blue. The scene is captured from a slightly elevated angle, looking down at the woman and child.

THAT SILENT SOUND

A SONG GIVEN BY JESUS TO PATRICK

Listen to that silent sound

The child crying in the night

Reaching out finds nothing to hold on

To save it from its mother's

right

Maybe you applaud her choice

But hey! Wait just a minute

here

This babe doesn't have a voice

The last thing that it knows is fear

Hey you! What gives you the right?

To kill a child who cannot

fight.

Hey you! What gives you the right?

To create this bloody sight.

Don't you know he makes a silent cry?

Don't you know he feels the pain inside?

Don't you realise he's gonna die?

Don't you know the doctors

lied?

Hey you! What gives you the right?

To kill a child who cannot

fight.

Hey you! What gives you the right?

To create this bloody sight.

Listen to that silent sound

The child inside you, it's alive

To be this child's mother you are bound

You have to help that child

survive

You have to give your child

his life

You have to let that child

survive

Hey you! What gives you the

right?

To kill a child who cannot

fight.

Hey you! What gives you the right?

To create this bloody sight.
